- Ask: What are the features of a monologue?
- Ask: What are naturalistic performances using techniques developed by Stanislavski?
- Ask: What are the best ways to learn a monologue off by heart?

TO BE HANDED IN: Week Beginning Monday 11th November 2024

General Information:

This half term you will be exploring how to create naturalistic performances using techniques developed by Stanislavski. In these tasks you will write, learn and rehearse a monologue.

Read the scenario entitled 'The footbridge' below and imagine how you would answer the question the police ask.

The Footbridge

You are a member of a group of friends that have been bullying another student. It started with name calling and pushing/shoving. Soon after, this escalated to cyber-bullying via texts and images.

Last night you and your friends encountered the student on a footbridge that crosses a busy road near your school. The name calling began and then turned into physical bullying – to the point when you were all punching and kicking the student. The student then managed to get away from you and started to run. When they were some distance away, they turned around and shouted: "I hate you all, this is all your fault and you will never see me again".

The group (including you) laugh at the student and start to walk home in the opposite direction. On your way home, you started to wonder what they meant by saying "this is all your fault and you'll never see me again".

The next morning there is a knock at the door – it is the police. They come into your house and sit down opposite you. They explain the student didn't arrive home last night and ask: "Can you tell us what happened on the footbridge after school yesterday?"

Task 1- Write a monologue

Imagine you are one of the bullies in the scenario, the police have come to your house and asked you the question at the end of the scenario: "Can you tell us what happened on the footbridge after school today?" Write your answer as a monologue (a monologue is a speech delivered by one person with no interruptions or contributions from anyone else).

What are the features of a monologue?

 Copilot

A monologue is a speech delivered by a single character in a play, movie, or other performance. Here are some key features of a monologue:

1. Single Speaker: Only one character speaks, often revealing their thoughts, feelings, or plans.
2. Length: Monologues are typically longer than regular dialogue, allowing for deeper exploration of the character's psyche.
3. Purpose: They can serve various purposes, such as providing background information, advancing the plot, or offering insight into the character's motivations.
4. Audience: The character may address other characters, the audience, or speak to themselves.
5. Emotional Depth: Monologues often delve into complex emotions, showcasing the character's inner conflicts and vulnerabilities.
6. Structure: They can be structured as a narrative, argument, or reflection, depending on the context and purpose.

Do you have a specific monologue in mind, or are you looking to write one yourself?

What are the best ways to learn a monologue off by heart?

Ah, the art of memorization! Here are some tried-and-true strategies:

1. Break it down: Divide the monologue into smaller sections. Memorize each one before moving to the next.
2. Understand the text: Grasp the meaning and emotion behind the words. This makes recall easier and your performance more authentic.
3. Repetition: Read it aloud multiple times. Record yourself and listen to it throughout the day.
4. Write it out: Physically writing the lines can help engrain them in your memory.
5. Use cues: Associating lines with physical actions or gestures can help recall during the performance.

Consistency and practice are key. Break a leg! 🍀

What are naturalistic performances using techniques developed by Stanislavski?

Naturalistic performances using Stanislavski's techniques aim to create a realistic portrayal of characters and situations. The method involves:

1. Emotional memory: Actors draw on personal experiences to bring genuine emotions to their roles.
2. The "Magic If": Asking "What if I were in this situation?" helps actors deeply connect with their characters.
3. Given circumstances: Understanding the who, what, where, when, and why of the character's world and actions.
4. Objectives: Knowing what the character wants in each scene and using that to drive the performance.
5. Subtext: Communicating what the character is thinking or feeling beneath their lines, adding depth.

Stanislavski's approach makes performances relatable, genuine, and impactful. 🤝

Text Summariser

- Here is a 5 bullet point summary of the first 2 pages:
- Marley, Scrooge's business partner, is dead beyond any doubt, as evidenced by the burial records.
- Scrooge is described as a tight-fisted, grasping, and miserly old man, who is cold and indifferent to others.
- Scrooge never painted out Marley's name from their business, and the firm remained known as "Scrooge and Marley."
- Scrooge is unaffected by external temperatures, as he is as cold and unyielding as the weather itself.
- On Christmas Eve, Scrooge is sitting in his counting-house on a cold, dark, and foggy day, as people outside try to keep warm.
